Fast and Optimal Transport of Atoms with Non-Harmonic Traps

Q Zhang¹, X Chen¹, and G-O David²

¹Department of Physics, Shanghai University, Shanghai, China
²Laboratoire Collisions Agregats Reactivat, Université de Toulouse, Toulouse, France

Contact Email: xchen@shu.edu.cn

We investigate the fast transport of an atom or a packet of atoms by different kinds of non-harmonic traps including power-law traps. The study is based on the reverse engineering method. Exact results are obtained and applied to design robust transport protocols. The optimization of the transport trajectory is performed with classical trajectories, and remains valid for the transport of a wave packet.